ForYourArt™

Welcome to the new issue of MAP ForYourArt, a tool for navigating LA's cultural landscape from an insider's perspective. With this new, expanded format, we hope to provide you with more valuable listings and useful ways of exploring culture in Los Angeles. The Spring MAP takes its cue from "Cross Town Traffic," (✕) an initiative focused on cultural diversity and occurring at over 25 Southern California institutions, and Los Angeles Art Weekend, which brings together cultural events happening across the city April 10-13.

We have also gone out of our way to cover emerging artist-run spaces and non-profits, at a time when international focus on the LA art scene has never been greater. You'll notice our MAP has expanded to include East LA neighborhoods. Each map, published quarterly, is intended to be a snapshot of the cultural life of Los Angeles. As we strive to develop our initiatives, we welcome your comments and suggestions.

Visit www.foryourart.com (BETA) to sign up for weekly updates!

ForYourArt is an interdisciplinary producer, meta-curator and publisher, creating fresh initiatives to invite cultural patrons to participate in creative civic engagement.

ForYourArt editorial content is strictly objective.

For consideration, please send your comments and suggestions to submit@foryourart.com.

Cross Town Traffic

Visit www.foryourart.com for a complete list of exhibitions and programs related to Cross Town Traffic.

Cross Town Traffic is a compilation of events and exhibitions this spring that critically engage with race and ethnicity through a variety of conceptual, historic and artistic lenses. From February through June 2008, the Hammer Museum, Japanese American National Museum and Los Angeles County Museum of Art join other Southern Californian museums, galleries and alternative spaces in offering provocative programming – many organized independently of one another. The events are an invitation to dialogue and a call to engage with these issues, with broad historical and social contexts in mind. There is no unifying voice or vision of how to approach issues of difference, identity and race – just a dynamic array of artists, ideas, public programs and exhibitions. – Aimee Chang, Karin Higa and Rita Gonzalez
